PUBLISHED WEEKLY IN CANAL POINT BY PAUL RARDIN

CIRCULATING THROUGHOUT THE VAST AGRICULTURAL AREA OF PALM BEACH COUNTY

RECENT OPERATIONS

By Paul Rardin

A year ago about now I was hearing some strange and uncomplimentary tales about the country editor in Canal Point. He was being called a long-legged so-and-so and a lot of other names that wouldn't look good in print. This week I was in Pahokee and I heard three of the kindest and nicest remarks about the same country editor and some of his accomplishments as a county commissioner. These remarks had to do with the vast amount of county road building in this area and the fine job being done by the commissioner. I scratched my head. I tried to figure it all out. I wonder why he could be such a good fellow today and such a so-and-so only 12 months ago. Then, it dawned on me. A year ago was election year.

Thirty-three youngsters received their sheepskins Wednesday night at the hands of County School Supt. Howell Watkins. Tom Watson, Jr., gave an inspirational address. The parents and friends present all agreed that WSWN's proprietor is outstanding when it comes to offering sensible advice to high school graduates.

The swimming pool in Pahokee is proving a popular spot with the children of the Pahokee-Canal Point community. Coach Clyde Alley will be on the job all summer to direct activities at the pool. Parents will have a feeling of security when they think about the popular coach being on the job to look out for the welfare of the children.

It is only a matter of a few days now until work will start on resurfacing Barfield highway and Larrimore road. The bids were received Monday and Belcher Oil Company of Miami was low bidder. When completed the two county roads will be modern highways—two more links in the ever-increasing county road system in the Glades.

Belcher To Retread Two County Roads

The Belcher Oil Co., Miami, today was apparent low bidder at $11,375 for repaving of approximately two miles of road on the Larrimore Rd., between State Road 15 and the Glades Farmer's Market, Pahokee and the Barfield Road linking two forks of State Road 15, according to County Commissioner Paul Rardin.

Bids received were tabulated and recommendations by the engineer will be made at the County Commission meeting next Monday. They included: Belcher Oil Co., $11,375; R. H. Wright and Son, Ft. Lauderdale, $12,237.50; A. O. Greynolds, West Palm Beach, $12,400; Rubin Construction Co., West Palm Beach, $12,750; Williams and Stockton Co., Miami, $15,500.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Major and son, Jack, left this week for Greenville, S. C.

Club Thanks All Who Helped Project

The Lions Club of Pahokee takes this opportunity to extend its appreciation and gratitude to all organizations and individuals in the lake area for the inspiring support and assistance given us during the construction of the Community Swimming Pool.

Without the above mentioned aid, our project would still be a dream instead of a reality. Once again, our deepest thanks.

Pahokee Lions Club
M. I. Keen, Pres.

Vacation School At Baptist Church

Registration will begin Saturday morning and classes will begin Monday morning. We cordially invite all the parents of this community to send their children to this school.

We also invite the children to come regularly to this school. Make all your plans, boys and girls, and we will see you this coming Saturday morning at the Missionary Baptist Church at 8:30.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jackson, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evans and son, Bunny, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived in Pahokee Saturday for a visit with Mr. Jackson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Jackson, Sr.

$600 Pay Raise For School Teachers Is Not Granted

Request for a $600 a year salary increase for Palm Beach county school teachers failed to get action at Tuesday's school board meeting in West Palm Beach.

The request was made in a letter from the Classroom Teachers Association. It contended that this county's present teacher salary schedule compares unfavorably with counties of comparable wealth on the Lower East Coast and some other counties.

This county, it declared, "is not in position to bid for the service of the best teaching talent available."

But School Superintendent Howell Watkins cited figures that salaries paid in Palm Beach county are comparable with, or better than, salaries in most other Florida counties except Dade.

The board, awarded these contracts: Building a four-room addition to Belle Glade White High School, to Don Hillier of Pahokee on his $37,077 bid.

Adding two rooms to Belvedere School, West Palm Beach, to Paul & son for $17,035.

Putting a two-room addition to Palmetto school, West Palm Beach to Sheldon and Glisson for $15,865.

State approval for an addition to the Greenacres city school was received.

Lay Cornerstone Pahokee Hospital

The cornerstone for the new Pahokee Hospital building was laid by the Everglades Lodge 211, F.&A.M. Wednesday at 4 p. m., with William J. Henry of Okeechobee, district deputy grand master of the 22nd Masonic District, officiating.

Among the officials attending the ceremony were Rep. B. Elliott, speaker-elect of the State House of Representatives who sponsored the bill which was passed recently separating the Western Palm Beach County Public Hospital District into Northwestern and Southwestern county districts; Mayor T. C. Richardson, members of the City Council, Ferry Hall, worshipful master of Lodge 211, and other officials and members of the Masonic Lodge.

Don Hillier and Sons, Inc., local contractor, is making excellent progress on the construction of the new 45-room modern hospital building which was started March 10 and is being built by the city at a cost of more than $120,000. If the present progress is maintained it is believed the building will be completed this summer and be ready for occupancy in the fall.

SOFT-BALL MEETING

Monday night at 7:30 interested parties will meet at the Pahokee city park to form a soft ball league. Players, sponsors and managers are urged to be present. A schedule will be worked out at the meeting, according to Clyde Alley.

New Druggist At Canal Point Store

W. C. Barnett is the new druggist at the Carter-Geiger Drug Store in Canal Point, coming here from Miami. Mr. Barnett is a druggist of many years experience. About 15 or more years ago he was in Pahokee and was associated with Dr. D. S. Spooner when Dr. Spooner operated a drug store there.

One Dozen Folks Offer Services At Bank Of Pahokee

The bank is headed, of course, by H. M. McIntosh, president and Rupert Mock as vice president. E. F. (Gene) McIlwain is cashier. Tellers are: Mrs. Edna Williams, Mrs. Georgia Moon, Julius Moon. ## Last Rites Held For Julian A. Groover

Graveside services for Julian A. Groover, 63, who died suddenly at his home 2010 1/2 Broward Ave., West Palm Beach, Monday, were held at 4 p. m. Thursday, at Hillcrest Cemetery with the Rev. U. E. Reed, Lake Worth Baptist Church pastor officiating. Mr. Groover died suddenly at his home.

He was found on the bathroom floor by his young son, John, when the youth returned from school at 5 p. m. Monday. Mr. Groover was a meat cutter.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Eva Groover, Lakeland; three sons, John, Julian A. Jr., and Emmett, all of city; and two daughters, Mrs. Mae Ritter, Indianapolis, Ind. and Mrs. Lavania Parker, Canal Point.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

(By Russell Kay)

Considering the record of the present legislature and its inability to get together on any kind of a program, it is probably the most sensible thing to let the boys go home, cool off and think things over for a time where they are not under pressure.

They have written a lot of blank checks, some perhaps that should not have been written, and if they are given an opportunity to stick around home long enough to ascertain the real feeling of their people they may be in a position to return to Tallahassee later on and enact sensible and intelligent legislation toward the solution of our financial problems.

It is always easier to spend than to conserve and spending has been the order of the day in government for a long time, but excessive spending eventually reaches a point where the fellow who is paying the bill, in this case the taxpayers, kicks over the traces and calls a halt.

It is all very well to try and provide for better schools, more roads, increased salaries for public officials, more money for the aged, the blind and indigent, but when we try to double the ante all at once and go on a wild spending spree and to hell with where the money is coming from we are bound to wake up with a glorious headache.

The matter of making both ends meet is a problem not only of the legislature but of the individual citizen. Thousands of folks here in Florida would like to have a nice new shiny automobile, a new home, a washing machine, an electric ice box and a lot of other things.

If an average family operated in the same manner as the legislature, they would all gather in the family circle. Dad would explain the need for a new car. He would tell how much more he could earn if he had a car. The good wife would agree and point out how they could go on family picnics, take vacation trips. Willie and Susie see themselves being driven to school every morning. It is a swell idea and everybody is for it. So they vote to have the car. Then mother tells how hard it is doing the family washing without any facilities. She would give anything if she could just have a washing machine. It would save doctor bills and clothes and be a help to the whole family. Another swell idea and everybody is for it. So they vote to have a washing machine.

Every suggestion for greater family comfort, convenience or better living naturally wins hearty approval and everyone votes for these things from junior to grandpa. It is fun thinking about it and talking about it until somebody brings up the inevitable question, "Where is the money coming from?"

When they total up the cost of all the things they want and all the things they have unanimous agreement they should have, the they should have, the amount is staggering. Their income is small and it takes most of their funds to pay everyday living expenses. If they are to enjoy even one of the things they want it is going to take some careful figuring.

They talk it over and agree that to secure all these blessings at once is out of the question. So they determine which is the most important and center their attention on a plan to secure that. Say they decide on the car. All right, they go over the family budget, each member considers what he or she can do to help stretch it enough to enable them to purchase a car. There are only two ways to accomplish this—they must cut expenses and increase income. As Mortimer Snerd would say, "It ain't easy."

But Dad cuts himself to one cigar a day. Mother plans family meals so as to save several dollars a week. Willie gets a paper route. Grandpa, who is no slacker, makes a deal with a novelty manufacturer to carve miniature dogs at 25c each. Susie sets up in business as a baby sitter. With the savings effected and the increased income they find they can count on $32 a month. So they get the car. Because they are a frugal, industrious, ambitious family they soon have the car paid for and get the washing machine, and many of the other things they desire.

It is as simple as that in family life; but when legislators get together they always make a hard job out of it by trying to do everything at once. They must raise money, increase income but never can consider the elimination of waste and unnecessary expense.

So again we find ourselves in the position of the family who wants everything at once, and we have voted unanimously for all these things; but now we are faced with the old obvious question, "Where is the money coming from?"

Maybe if the legislators would visit among their home folks and ask how they manage their affairs they would get some excellent ideas as to how the state might meet its problems. They would find that the people never have asked for and do not want many of the governmental services being provided. They would like to see some effort made to reduce the cost of government and simplify its operations. Maybe if you and I and a lot of other folks made this clear to them it would be a mighty good thing.

Mr. and Mrs. Price Burdeshaw had as guests Sunday their daughter, Mrs. Franklin Kelly, Jr., and Brenda Sue of Belle Glade; their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Groover and baby of Fort Pierce; and Mr. Burdeshaw's sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Burdeshaw, and her son, Bennie Gene, of Okechobee.

Mrs. Baird's Class In Recital June 2nd

On Thursday evening, June 2nd, the pupils of the piano class taught by Mrs. Sorchie M. Baird, accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Smith to come to their home in Canal Point to appear in their annual piano recital given by their teacher.

The families, the school faculty, and the church pastors and their wives were the only invited guests. Choice bouquets were placed about the charming rooms, and the atmosphere was right for music as follows:

Duets—"March of the Brownies", "Parade": Wanda Scott and Mrs. Baird.

Boys and Girls Are Guests Of W. M. U.

The W. M. U. ladies of the Canal Point Baptist Church entertained the boys and girls of the auxiliaries with their parents at a Father-son, Mother-daughter banquet Tuesday night at the American Legion Home. The colors of the R. A.'s and G. A.'s, blue and gold, and green and gold respectively, were used in decorating the Hall.

The theme of the night was "Flying High With Christ", and was in the form of an imaginary flying trip in song, starting in Florida with stops in Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Kentucky, Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and back into Florida. Miss Dellona Jones was at the piano and Miss Lois Echols led the group singing. The pastor, Rev. B. Elmo Scoggin, was Pilot in Charge of the program. The Welcome Aboard to the parents was given by G. A. Marie Sapp, and R. A. Eugene Conner with Mrs. R. T. Smith and Charles Jones responding for the parents. Two of the R. A.'s Wiley Howell and Hunter Latham, were presented in an amusing skit. Four G. A.'s, Melba Pugh, Billie N. Stokes, Donna L. Upthegrove, and Jackie Scruggs sang "Hello".

Mrs. D. L. Underwood of Riviera was guest speaker using the theme "Flying High" as her topic. After a very inspirational talk she was presented a gift by Miss Judy Shackford.

The evening was climaxed with the entire group of about fifty singing one verse of "Bless Be The Tie."

Tallahassee News

(By Ralph Blank)
RDB Manager

TALLAHASSEE — The 1949 Regular Session of the Florida Legislature is now a matter of history. In dying hours of the session some one on the floor of the House said, "the Legislature labored enormously and brought forth a mouse". At any rate, no segment of the people was more disappointed, chagrined or disgruntled than the weary body of lawmakers heading home to face their voting public.

A very heated and tense fight developed between the economy block and the proponents of the Sales Tax near the end of the session. The former felt that with sufficient cutting and a saving of the taxpayers money very little new revenue would be needed. Our Palm Beach County delegation consistently fought on this side—and against tax bills bringing in large "slush" funds.

The House members from Palm Beach County, B. Elliott on the Appropriations and John Bollinger on the Finance and Taxation committee belonged to the economy block there, where by close or tie roll calls they time after time defeated the sales tax measures or cut back proposed mushrooming appropriations. In the Senate the well oiled sales tax machine, headed by Senator W. A. Shands, rolled over all opposition for a time, but stalled in the last forty-eight hours. Senator John Beacham and others hurled many amendments at this legislative juggernaut without avail. The Senator from the 35th District particularly fought the hotel and room tax as discriminatory to Southeast Florida and as singling out particularly our tourist industry.

All five flood control measures for South Florida passed the House and Senate and were signed by the Governor with appropriate ceremony. The leadership furnished by Senator Beacham as Chairman of the Senate Drainage and Water Conservation Committee and B. Elliott, heading a similar group in the House and ably aided and abetted by John Bollinger, was outstanding.

Probably no delegation of the magnitude of the 208 million dollar South Florida Flood Control program ever before passed through a gauntlet of committees and through both Houses of a legislature without a dissenting vote. While such a record might look easy, it was the cumulative teamwork of the Palm Beach County delegation, its inspiring leadership, several years work of the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board through its Flood Control Committee, the Everglades Drainage District Board and other agencies which made the feat possible. At times during the session the situation looked most discouraging, but voting was delayed from time to time until water control forces felt they were thoroughly organized.

Many municipal charter changes presented by various Palm Beach County towns were passed, as were a sewer and sanitary bill for the Palm Beaches; salary raising bills for County fee officers, Commissioners, the Circuit and Criminal Court Judges, Commissioners of the Port of Palm Beach and the County Solicitor and his assistant. A County Zoning bill which provides that 50 percent of the people in any given area of the County desiring zoning benefits and protection may request same was passed with referendum attached. The County Commission will sit as a Zoning Board under the provisions of this act.

All in All, we have probably witnessed one of the most confused and disorganized legislative sessions in the history of Florida. Leadership of a united character was lacking. The people and even the taxpayers from many communities back home inconsistently pressured against more taxes or against a sales tax, then turned right around and joined other pressure groups in urging expanded budgets for their respective pet projects.

Is it any wonder the legislature is going to be compelled to return to Tallahassee to finish the thankless task of providing a revenue source to finance our growing state?

A quarter century has gone by since a handful of somewhat elementary-type buses made a few daily schedules to a few Florida towns and cities. This service was considered a fine addition to existing transportation... and it was. Today... a fleet of great modern coaches, with luxury appointments cross and criss-cross the peninsular state in an almost endless chain of schedules. That is something we of Florida Greyhound Lines are intensely proud of—and the occasion we celebrate today. The future of this company is geared closely to Florida's. Ever cognizant of the responsibility attached to our mission of transportation... we have increased our service to meet the needs of a friendly, progressive state. It is our purpose today, as then to give you the finest in transportation. We shall never outgrow this determination.

Christian Science Society

CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"GOD, THE PRESERVER OF MAN" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday,
June 12.

The Golden Text is: "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms" (Deuteronomy 33:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved" (Psalms 16:8).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"When the evidence before the material senses yielded to spiritual sense, the apostle declared that nothing could alienate him from God, from the sweet sense and presence of Life and Truth.

"It is ignorance and false belief, based on a material sense of things, which hide spiritual beauty and goodness. Understanding this, Paul said: 'Neither death, nor life,

... nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God' (303:30-9).

Methodist Women Present Program

A program on "Darkness Turns to Light in Africa" was presented by Mrs. F. W. Cross, Sr., and Mrs.
A. R. Harrington at a meeting of the Canal Point Methodist Womenan's Society of Christian Service in the Sunday school building Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. D. R. Hall led the devotionals and Mrs. W. K.
Buchanan, president, presided at the business session.

Mrs. Buchanan announced plans for an officers training class for all WSCS officers to be held at the church on Tuesday, June 14. This date was also set as clean-up day at the church. It will be an all-day meeting with a covered-dish lunch-

164 Looking For Jobs In The Glades

New job applications filed during May by persons seeking jobs through the Belle Glade office of the Florida State Employment Service totaled 164, A. M. Larrimore, manager of the office said today. These new applications were the largest number in a single month since January 1949.

Some of these new applications came from high school graduates who are now seeking fulltime, permanent employment and are registered with the Employment Service office because of the concentrated effort of this agency to place our new graduates in Florida jobs, Larriamore pointed out.

Non agricultural job placements of workers in May fell 22 per cent below the number in April as job opportunities became less plentiful. Total non-agricultural placements made were only 21.

According to the most recent count there are 9 job openings, 6 for men and 3 for women listed at the local office. Of this number, only 1 is open to young workers with special training but little or no experience. The greatest demand currently is for salesmen and bookkeepers.

Larriamore is urging employers in the 'Glades to make a special effort to employ one or more well qualified school graduates registered for jobs with the Florida State Employment Service. Cana-Point is serviced by the State Employment Service on alternate Tuesdays when a representative is in the City Hall in Pahokee from 9:30 A. M. to 12: noon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wood have as their house guests their daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Baker, and her daughter, Linda Carol, of Gainesville.

Summertime Doin's In The Everglades

Business comes almost to a halt in the Glades in summertime. Business men and growers relax completely. Many catch up with their fishing. Others take some time to catch up with their loafing. Some are wealthy enough to go on extended vacations in northern climes. Others just fall into the swing of things and stay at home.

Walking thru Pahokee streets the other day, here are some of the summer happenings we noticed. Mgr. John Bolton washing windows at Bolton's Drug Store—Tonsorial Artist Irvin Maloy strolling (slowly) across the street from Gene's Barber Shop for a coke at Bolton's.—At Jones Hardware store were a couple of railroad magnates—Windy Willis and Terry Sellers.

Further down the street in that air conditioned banking emporium we noticed President Harry McIntosh's desk stripped for action.—Also an employee of the ever-popular institution standing at the window marked "nokes" with a wishful look on his face. This same employee wore a necktie the day the new bank was opened. We haven't seen the tie since.

We road over Bacom Point Road and found it rough in spots.—Looks like somebody would do something about those bumps.—Out to the airport and found that the runways are being rocked and soon we'll have a No. 1 airport right smack dab in the middle of the Glades.—I've never been up in one of those flying machines, have you?—I don't plan to start flying soon.—However, I thought maybe we should have a No. 1 airport in the Glades and that's what we've got. It is a County—C. A. A. Project.

Have you heard that latest phonograph recording titled "Elmer Jones and the Bear"?—The hardware merchant in Pahokee will modestly play it for you if you'll stop by.—The offices of the city clerk sure look pretty with all the new green paint. The floor is to be covered with asbestos tile and then those good ladies working there will feel like working even harder.—PR.
